Click here to watch a Flash video of Dr. Scott Carroll discussing Respigard™ > We searched for a natural way to ease seasonal and chronic respiratory challenges from colds to bronchitis to emphysema to allergies. As you can guess, we didn't find it in a factory or a lab. It was waiting for us on the shores of Fiji, where it has been for centuries. We have worked with Fijian villagers to bring you the extract of the Fijian Red Mangrove. Locals call it "Tiri" or "TiTi" because it is often prepared as a tea. For the same reason, we call the active ingredients in our product, "Fiji T." Villagers have used it as an elixir for the common cold or as a tonic for children to prevent them from suffering common seasonal ailments, the villagers of the vast network of Fiji islands have relied on this same plant. Our product is made from the aerial rhizomes from three types of red mangrove trees which have hybridized in a unique manner known only in Fiji, Tonga, and Somoa. Fiji seems to be the only country where there is a plethora of these mangroves and we work with the villagers to harvest the root in a traditional and sustainable manner. Read the testimonies. Email us with questions. Try our product. You will not be disappointed with the effectiveness of our clinically-tested, Kosher-certified, natural product.

One of our favorite customers says it best:

"It has been a long winter here in Europe, but now Spring has finally arrived! I want to tell you how thankful we are to "Nature's Nurse" drops! On four occasions we were attacked by bad colds/bronchitis over the last 3 months due to extensive travel, and every time your magic drops have helped us to get rid of the infection in 2 - 3 days!! Just as promised in the instructions! We are delighted and thank you for introducing this product to us!"
